

Eden Shiferaw

Vice President

Eden Shiferaw is a dynamic relationship builder and political strategist who understands the challenges of making significant changes in public policy. Eden works to bridge the divide between key stakeholders and decision makers in Washington. She identifies policy and advocacy priorities, develops strategies based on those priorities, and works skillfully to execute those strategies.

Prior to joining NVG, Eden worked at Olsson Frank Weeda Terman Matz PC (OFW Law) where her focus was in healthcare and agriculture policy. Eden particularly focused on delivery system reform, including Medicare payment policy. Eden also assisted clients on policy issues related to the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture, including food safety, nutrition, biotechnology, meat and poultry issues and global food security. Previously, Eden worked for Congresswoman Marcia L. Fudge (D-OH) where her portfolio included food and nutrition policy, and voting rights.

Eden is a north Texas native and received her bachelor's degree from Duke University. She serves on the board of Planned Parenthood of Metropolitan Washington, DC and Thrive DC.
